

Wind song invocation

From the stillness, from the great void of all there is was and will be
I call on the four celestial winds of north south east and west
The divine winds of the fifth world of peace
That carry the messages of unconditional love
Come here today to teach me the lessons of working with wind
Show me how to bend as trees do and not resist
Show me how to flow and weave and dance through life
Show me the lessons of expression and release
How to speak and sing, how to whistle , how to find my voice
Show me the lessons of breath, of presence , of stillness
Yet show me the strength required to blow away the barriers I set up in fear,
Peel from me energies and projections of others Ive been storing,
So i may see my authentic self and my own beauty
Whisper to me the messages of renewal, of change , of movement
Of expansion, of the never ending flow of breath
From my first intake of breath at birth, to my last breath out
My spirit flies free like the wind

A ho
